

A New Approach

Over the next two months – at least – I will be posting three pieces of content per week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The content I'll be providing will be in the form of blog posts, videos and podcasts. Although I have been writing this newsletter for a few years (and 55 editions so far), I feel it is more convenient for you to read the items as I produce them.

Therefore I will promote each of these posts directly to you on the day they are posted instead of writing a monthly newsletter. All of the content will also be promoted through the Melbourne Golf Coach Facebook page. To 'like' the Facebook page click here.

If you really prefer to receive information once a month as I have been doing for almost six years, then let me know.

Crazy offer on Iron Golf Mind

Last month I promoted the new purchase price of the book Iron Golf Mind for any Australian order (no matter how large) as free of postage. That means you can now purchase a copy of Iron Golf Mind for only $18.00. That is a $6.90 saving for any purchase in Australia.

The response has been extremely positive so now I have also reduced the price of the e-book version to a ridiculous $3.99.

Latest podcast

Ray Ruffels was undoubtedly a great tennis player, however it is through his coaching that he produced his best results. He is best known as coach of doubles champions Todd Woodbridge and Mark Woodforde who dominated Wimbledon doubles for a decade. Ray talks about the traits that are required for great tennis players and coaches. The messages are the same for anyone in a coaching or leadership position.

Listen to Ray as he talks about his coaching journey. To hear the podcast, click here
